We work in the same place we sleep. We relax in the same place we cook. Depending on our stage of life and living situation, our individual needs change – and the requirements we ask of our furnishings change with them. With MYA, design studio Altherr Désile Park has created a collection that accompanies these changes. MYA is a sensuous experience. The surfaces alternate between cold and warm, soft and hard, smooth and textured, rounded and angular. MYA exudes warmth: the materials – wood, leather and metal in subtly matched colours – have been selected to fit in confidently with their surroundings without stealing the show. The purist design and well thought-through elements make for a versatile and adaptable collection that's suitable for a wide range of uses.

Barcelona-based design studio Altherr Désile Park doesn't go in for grand gestures. "What interests us is how a product works in combination with others and what it contributes to the atmosphere," explains Jeannette Altherr. The designers took their inspiration for MYA from Shaker furniture. The result is a purist collection that exudes openness and warmth.

"MYA is down to earth and extremely versatile. As a result, the collection can react to changing needs in the home and becomes a constant companion." Altherr Désile Park rounds out the capsule collection with versatile standalones for every room in the house. The designers combine warm oak, smooth metal and soft leather to create furniture with a harmoniously individual character.

Consisting of rounded wooden rods, the minimalist structure of the frames gives MYA a sense of openness and lightness, elegance and clarity. The shelves are made of wood or metal. Whereas the wooden shelves and frame merge into an almost seamless whole, the metal shelves wrap themselves around the wooden rods.

The surfaces in light-coloured leather have a captivating quality thanks to the sensual texture of the natural material. The collection's elegant, down-to-earth character is underscored by the choice of nuanced shades – natural and black oak, honey-coloured metal and the light beige of the leather.

MYA is an adaptive series: the drawers, metal boxes and wooden trays mean the individual items are suitable for a wide variety of uses. And MYA is mobile too: it's designed for simple disassembly – and optimised for e-commerce. But perhaps the greatest strength of this timeless collection are MYA's unobtrusive standalone pieces that enter into a self-confident dialogue with their surroundings.

Materials that effortlessly create a familiar atmosphere.

MYA AND VIV

The top-quality MYA capsule collection is made of solid oak. MYA comes in two colours: matt black or natural wood. Both finishes preserve the natural texture of the oak. The natural-coloured rhubarb leather is soft, long-lasting and robust. And the metal and leather boxes and wooden trays don't just add the finishing touches to the standalone furniture in the collection, they're elements that can be put to practical use anywhere in the home as well. The sideboards, highboards, lowboards and vanity unit are equipped with wooden drawers. The VIV stool augments the MYA collection with a mobile and versatile plastic element that serves as both a seat and storage container. The connecting link between all the products in the series is their high degree of versatility.

burgbad stands for individuality and versatility. We're interested in the constant changes and changing requirements that shape our homes and lives. That's why, as a boutique manufacturer on an industrial scale, we develop furniture that permits individuality and accompanies change: products that are just as much at home in the bathroom as they are in the kitchen and fit in just as well with a living room setting as they do with an office environment.
